

DREYFUS IS GUILTY THE COURT SAYS GREAT FRENCH TRIAL COMES TO A CLOSE.

As Had Been Predicted, the Army Won Out And the Prisoner Had No Show to Get Justice---
The Closing Scenes of the Tribunal Were Exciting.

Rennes, Sept. 9.—[Special]—Captain Dreyfus is guilty. This was the verdict announced when the courtmartial convened this afternoon. There was a great uproar when the verdict was announced.

Rennes, Sept. 9.—[Special]—The courtmartial's verdict sentences Dreyfus to ten years imprisonment in a fortress.

Five Vote Against Him.

Rennes, Sept. 9.—[Special]—The announcement of the verdict came soon after the court had retired. It had been the hope of the friends of the captain that Demange's splendid address would stem the tide. But it did not. Five judges voted for conviction, and two against it. During the reading of the verdict absolute silence prevailed in the court room.

Rennes, Sept. 9.—[Special]—Dreyfus was not in the court room when the verdict was read. He was waiting in the ante room adjoining, whither Col. Jouaust proceeded and read him the court's fateful decision. Only members of the court and his counsel were present when the verdict was read to Dreyfus.

[The "difference in time" between Chicago and Paris is about eight hours. Therefore the Dreyfus court met at 3 o'clock p. m., Paris time, which was about 7 o'clock a. m., Chicago time.]

The Morning in Rennes.

[From the One O'clock Extra Edition.]

Rennes, Sept. 9.—[Special]—The excitement in Rennes is intense this morning and grows more so as the time for the Dreyfus courtmartial to render a decision draws near. The last vestige of hope for the accused had gone and both sides were confident that he will be condemned.

The courtmartial met at the usual hour this morning and adjourned until three o'clock this afternoon, when it is generally supposed a verdict will be announced at that hour. The entire session was devoted to the closing argument by M. Demange.

Extraordinary precautions have been taken to prevent disorder. Bodies of troops and gendarmes were early astir, and the town echoed with the tramp of marching men.

The public is excluded from space within a quarter of a mile from the Lycee.

In each street approaching the court there are barriers of troops of soldiers formed in a cordon around the court house and massed in the plaza in the center of the town.

In front of the postoffice a hundred mounted gendarmes are ready to gallop to any point where any trouble is threatened.

Arguments of Demange.

Demange entered upon searching analysis of the evidence and recapitulated the testimony of the expert artillerymen in Dreyfus' favor. He took up the bordereau by sections and excoriated Esterhazy in a scathing arraignment. Demange dropped his former pathetic manner today and presented only cold, forcible arguments.

Dreyfus still preserves his calm.

When Demange had finished, with a magnificent peroration, his eyes were suffused with tears, and his lips, from the violence of his efforts were actually covered with foam. There was a moment of silence, then a sharp crackle of hand claps. No cheering was heard and no attempt at a demonstration was made. Labori then announced that he would not speak. At three ten o'clock the court adjourned to consider the verdict.

Germany May Show Feeling.

Berlin, Sept. 9.—[Special]—It is rumored that if Capt. Dreyfus is condemned, Count Muenster, the German ambassador at Paris, will refuse to return.

THE RECORD OF THE CASE

The History of the Story That Millions Have Read

The second trial by court martial of Captain Alfred Dreyfus, of the artillery, charged with betraying French military secrets to agents of a foreign power, opened Monday, Aug. 7, 1899, at Rennes, headquarters of the Tenth Army Corps in the department of Ille-et-Vilaine.

Ample precautions were taken to guard the prisoner and the judges.

The charge against Captain Dreyfus was based upon a certain memorandum said to have been found at a foreign attaché's lodgings by a servant in September, 1894. This has been designated throughout the history of the case as the "bordereau." The text of the bordereau is as follows:

"In the absence of any news indicating your desire to me, I nevertheless send you, sir, certain information of interest:

- "1. A note of the hydraulic brake of 120 (method of operating this piece).
- "2. A note on the troupes de couverture [outpost troops]. (A few modifications will be made by the new plan.)
- "3. A note on modification in artillery formation.

"4. A note relating to Madagascar.

"5. The scheme relative to the manual of field firing (March 14, 1894.)

"This last paper is extremely difficult to procure, and I can have it at my disposal only for a very few days. The ministry has issued a definite number to the corps, and these corps are responsible for them; each officer is obliged to return his (copy) after the maneuvers. If, therefore, you wish to take from it whatever may interest you, and hold it afterwards at my disposal, I will take it. Unless you do not want me to take a copy in extense and address it to you, I am just leaving for the maneuvers."

This bordereau, supported by the alleged evidence in a secret "dossier," or collection of papers, and a supposed confession of Captain Dreyfus made to Captain Lebrun-Renault, constitute the points upon which the case was tried. It was understood that evidence, not bearing upon the bordereau, the secret dossier, or the confession would be excluded unless it had been first presented to the court of cassation, when application for the second trial was made. This understanding has been stretched and distorted so as to admit almost everything.

The judges at the court-martial were:

President—Colonel Jouaust, director in the Engineer Corps.

Lieutenant Colonel Brongniart, director of the School of Artillery.

Major de Breon, Seventh Regiment of Artillery.

Major Profflet, Tenth Regiment of Artillery.

Major Merle, Seventh Regiment of Artillery.

Captain Parfait, Seventh Regiment of Artillery.

Captain Beauvais, Seventh Regiment of Artillery.

Major Carrière was the government commissioner conducting the prosecution. General Chamoin was custodian of the secret dossier.

GERMANY HAS THE LAST WORD.

Official Gazette Declares Dreyfus Was Not Germany's Agent.

Berlin, Sept. 9.—The Reichsanzeiger Friday evening in the official portion of the paper published the following statement:

"We are authorized to repeat here with the declarations which the imperial government, while loyally observing the reserve demanded in regard to the internal matters of another country, has made concerning the French captain Dreyfus. For the preservation of his own dignity and the fulfillment of a duty to humanity Prince von Munster, after obtaining the orders of the emperor, repeatedly made in December, 1894, and in January, 1895, to M. Hanotaux, M. Dupuy and M. Casimir-Perier declarations to the effect that the imperial embassy in France never maintained either directly or indirectly any relations with Dreyfus.

"Secretary of State von Buelow in the reichstag Jan. 24, 1898, made the following statement: 'I declare in the most positive manner that no relations or connections of any kind ever existed between the French ex-captain Dreyfus, now on Devil's island, and any German agent.'

Civil War Is Predicted.

Paris, Sept. 9.—The Figaro prints an important article on the result of the verdict of the Rennes court-martial. In the event of acquittal, it says, the Dreyfusites will not prove revengeful. Could Dreyfus be convicted, his partisans will fight to the last, while the triumphant nationalists will march upon the republic and France will be discredited in the eyes of the whole civilized world and once more plunged into the miseries of civil war.

SKETCH OF DREYFUS' JUDGE

Sketch of the Colonel Who Presides at the Second Court Martial.

Colonel Jouaust, president of the court martial for the retrial of the Dreyfus case, is a grizzled old campaigner. His height, his straight, vigorous figure, decked out in a wealth of brass buttons and gold lace, and his fierce, white mustaches make him an impressive personage to look upon. He affects a stern, almost a fierce manner toward the witnesses, all except that precious lot of generals. They are his superiors in rank, and he has constantly treated them with much obsequiousness.

The presiding judge is a soldier in every fiber and could not brook the theatrical display made by "the woman in white," who held a prominent position, back of him and to his right at each session until he lost patience. At that time he requested her to take a less conspicuous seat. His questions to Dreyfus have been very searching and merciless. But if absolute truth is all the troubled captain requires, Colonel Jouaust seems likely to afford it.

He is not as has been stated by some writers, the colonel of Dreyfus' old regiment. Perhaps this mistake arises from the fact that when the accused captain has addressed the court he has always begun his speech with the words "mon colonel." But this is merely the military form of address required by the conventions. Colonel Jouaust is really a director in the engineer corps. The six associate judges, numbering a lieutenant colonel, three majors and two captains, are all artillery officers of the same branch of the service as Dreyfus.

SIEGE OF M. JULES GUERIN.

Comedy of The Rue Chabrol That Grew Out of the Case

One of the incidents which have supplied a comedy feature to the tragedy of the second Dreyfus court martial has been the siege of M. Jules Guerin and his little band of anti-Semites in the house in the Rue Chabrol, Paris. M. Guerin, besides being the president of the Anti-Semite league, is the editor of The Anti-Juit, one of the most scurrilous journals in France, where there is plenty of competition in that particular line.

M. Guerin enjoys the confidence of the Duke of Orleans, whose money he has been spending freely. Probably he thinks that his defiance of the whole garrison of Paris, the government and the police entitles him to further consideration from his employer.

M. Guerin entrenched himself at the offices of the Grand Occident, in the Rue Chabrol, which was blocked by a strong body of the Republican guards, horse and foot. Anti-Jewish demonstrations took place in the neighborhood. Three of M. Guerin's supporters, who left the house armed with a revolver, two or three hatchets and other weapons, were immediately arrested.

Through a wicket in the door M. Guerin was served with a warrant for his arrest. Thereafter he became technically an outlaw, and in further dealing with him legal formalities were not observed. The street was open to traffic on Aug. 26, the police having orders to wait quietly until M. Guerin should capitulate of his own accord, which would be, the officials decided, when he had come to the last cartridge, or, rather, the last siphon of soda water.

It is not known generally that the house in which Guerin and his comrades took refuge in Paris is called "Le Grand Occident de France," in opposition to the Masonic Grand Orient. The Anti-Semite league declared from the start of the Dreyfus affair that

M. GUERIN'S BESIEGED HOUSE.

The Freemasons were, like the Protestants, the friends and supporters of the Hebrews and of the Jewish captain. The ferocious M. Guerin has been recognized not only as the head of the Anti-Semite league, but also, as the general delegate of the "Grand Occident" of France.

The regular and ancient order of Freemasons in France cannot be said to have taken any active part in an official manner in the bitter Dreyfus fight. But, of course, the French Masons have repeatedly, as individuals, manifested their sympathy for the cause of justice and consequently for the revision of the sentence dictated with closed doors and without communication of the incriminating documents to the accused person by the court martial in December, 1894.

Still the anti-Dreyfusards pretended that the close vote by which the chamber approved the ministerial programme of M. Waldeck-Roussseau and maintained in power the present cabinet, which they represent as favorable to the Dreyfus cause, was obtained only through a Masonic maneuver.

They say that at the critical moment M. Brisson, a high dignitary in the Masonic order, jumped to the tribune and delivered a speech, in which he made, with his hands over his head, the mysterious sign of the "grande detresse" (great distress). On seeing this sign the few hesitating Masons in the chamber obeyed the rules of their order, and understanding that the latter might be in peril if they did not heed M. Brisson's cabalistic indication, they voted as he required—in favor of the new cabinet.

The real grievance of M. Guerin and his anti-Semite followers against Freemasonry is that the order is tolerated in France, while the Patriots' league, the Anti-Semite league and other similar associations have to be authorized by the government. A campaign has been made in the press and in public meetings, under the direction of M. Jules Lemaitre, Jules Guerin and others, to get the authorities to apply to the lodges of Freemasons the law which is enforced against other associations.

The secretary general of the Grand Orient, M. Bergere, published a complete answer to these attacks. These declarations did not prevent M. Guerin from starting the "Grand Occident," in opposition to the "Grand Orient" of France. He placed the offices of the general delegate in the Rue de Chabrol, in the house which has been besieged by the forces of the French government.

NICHOLAS SMITH'S STORIES OF SONGS

INTERESTING WORK BY A WIS-CONSIN EDITOR.

Janesville Citizens Will Be Interested in a Former Townsman's Labors—Publishes an Attractive Book on One Great National Airs—Portraits of Famous Authors.

The fruits of study and work of years is shown in Colonel Nicholas Smith's attractive book, "Stories of Great National Songs," which has just issued from the press of The Young Churchman company in Milwaukee, and of Sampson, Low, Marston & Co. of London. The book contains twenty portraits of authors of famous songs. Some of them were secured with difficulty by the painstaking author, others are old friends produced again.

Janesville people will be interested in reading of the work of a former townsman. The author outlines his work in the following sentences:

Songs That Stand Out in Relief.

"In the making of songs many pieces are called but few chosen." There is a single "Mount Washington" standing out in clear relief above and beyond all other songs which men and women produce.
And if we turn to history we will find this illustrated in national hymns and battle songs by Francis Scott Key's "Star Spangled Banner"; Julia Ward Howe's
"Battle Hymn of the Republic"; George Root's "Battle Cry of Freedom"; Henry
C. Work's "Marching Through Georgia";
Rouget de Lisle's "Marseillaise Hymn"; Max Schneckenburger's "Watch on the Rhine"; and in sacred song by Isaac Watts' "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross"; Charles Wesley's "Jesus Lover of My Soul"; Augustus M. Toplady's "Rock of Ages"; Edward Perronet's "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name"; Henry Francis
Lyte's "Abide With Me"; Sarah Flower
Adams' "Nearer, My God to Thee"; and John Henry Newman's "Lead, Kindly Light." And Dr. Samuel F. Smith was also a man of one song—one that towers grandly above all other songs he ever wrote. While he is author of that fine popular mission hymn, "This Morning Light is Breaking," it was his national song, "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," that made his name and fame part of the imperishable history of America and American patriotism.

Germany's Battle Hymns.

In his chapter on the "Battle Hymns of Germany," the author says: "The chief patriotic song of Germany is "Watch on the Rhine," but the national hymn which thrills the whole German empire is "Heil Dir im Siegerkranz—Hail to Thee in the Conqueror's Wreath." It was written in 1790 as a song for the birthday of Christian VII
of Denmark, by Heinrich Harries.
When it passed into Berlin in 1793 it was recast into its present form by Balthasar Gerhard Schumacher, and sung to the tune to which we sing "My Country 'Tis of Thee," and from which it has never been separated. This national hymn has such a strong hold on German affection that the centenary of its publication was celebrated with demonstrations and enthusiasm throughout the empire in December, 1893. It would seem that Germany, in her struggle with France, had little need of more patriotic songs. She had already a dozen living, moving, exciting; battle hymns. But every new phase of every new conflict which fired the German heart produced a new song. It was in 1840 that Max Schneckenburger, then twenty-one years old, wrote his potent
and wonderful "Watch on the Rhine."
He was not a poet, but a hustling, every day business man; but from his soul, as from a flint, leaped the spark which made Germany one flame of patriotism.
When he saw the left bank of the Rhine threatened by France, his heart was more than ever warmed with a love of home and country, and in a moment of great emotion he sang, as one translation gives it:

The Rhine is safe while German hands
Can draw and wield the battle brands,
While strength to point a gun remains,
Or life blood runs in German veins.

"The power of this song was so great that it was afterward seized by four eminent composers—F. Mendel of Berne, in 1840; Leopold Schreter of Warlitz, in 1852; F. W. Schering of Strasburg, in 1852; and last and greatest of all, Carl Wilhelm von Schmalenkaden. The words of "Watch on the Rhine" were first sung to Wilhelm's melody on the 11th of June, 1854. Schneckenburger died in 1849, long before his song became famous, as it did not attain wide-spread popularity until the breaking out of the Franco-Prussian war. It then became the song of the mightiest army of modern Europe, and, in fact, the paean

of all Germany, and nothing could resist the song of the Rhine in the defense of that country against the attacks of France."

Battle Cry of Freedom.

The chapter entitled "George F. Root and the Battle Cry of Freedom" contains a portrait of this author of one national song. It says: "When President Lincoln issued his second call for troops in the summer of 1861, the emergency had come when the Union army needed a little cry of freedom, and George F. Root, living in Chicago, was deeply impressed with the mighty significance of the proclamation. One afternoon he caught the spirit of the hour and there began to evolve in his mind the sentiment of a rallying song, and

COL. NICHOLAS SMITH.

In an outburst of patriotic fervor there came the words and music of that soul-stirring and pulse quickening battle hymn. Only a few days after the song was written, a monstrous war meeting was held in Union square, New York.
The excitement ran high, and the emotion was intense. The Hutchinson family sang the "Battle Cry of Freedom."
The immense throng of listeners were aroused to the highest pitch of exaltation of soul. The song was sung again and again, and the great audience caught up the refrain, and it proved a resistless force in swelling the ranks of the army. No other war song was sung with bolder patriotism or with more triumphant passion of the soul. It seemed to mount up as if on the wings of magic and was carried over all the North, and into all camps where the stars and stripes floated. It was often ordered to be sung as the men marched into action; and more than one its strident roar on the battlefield to stimulate courage."

America's Favorite Songs

The reader is given his choice, whether the tune of the first American national song, "Yankee Doodle," originated in Cromwell's time or was a Holland harvest song. He gets an insight into the character of William Billings, the eighteenth century Boston composer of war songs, who furnished the revolutionary army with patriotic words and music.

The words of "Hail Columbia" were written by Joseph Hopkins to the tune of a patriotic song known as the "President's March," which had been composed by a German professor named Roth, and were sung by Gilbert Fox, a young singer, at his benefit in a Philadelphia theater. A portrait of Francis Scott Key, the author of "Star Spangled Banner," as reproduced in the chapter on that immortal war song, which is a distinguished souvenir of the war of 1812.
The song has immortalized the name of John Stafford Smith, who wrote the tune forty years before, and that of Mrs. Mary Pickersgill, the maker of the flag at Fort Mifflin, that inspired Key's single song. A picture of the Key monument at Frederick, Md., is given.

Authorship of "John Brown's Body."
There are some songs besides "Yankee Doodle" whose author is not known, and one of these is "John Brown's Body," which has been claimed by many and sung by millions. The writer says:

"The song of 'John Brown's Body' was a blast of triumph. The massive simplicity of the tune stirred the blood of the people like a blast of triumph.
While Colonel Webster's regiment (the Twelfth Massachusetts) marched down Broadway, New York, July 24, 1861, on their way to the front, singing 'Old John Brown' as a marching song, the scene was soul stirring and surpassing description. The effect was supreme.
All over the north, in all federal camps,
the refrain, with its majestic plainness
in the rhythmic beating of mighty hammers, spread as if by enchantment.
This is one of the most mystical songs of any country or age.
Why the undistinguishable name of John Brown should have been whispered by 4,000,000 slaves, and sung wherever the English language is spoken, or incorporated into an anthem which thrilled great armies with delight and inspiration, will remain in the realm of mystery.

There are 294 pages in this delightful
book, and not one could well be spared.
Each contains graceful thoughts and out of the way information. The price of the book is $1, and it will be offered

SHEPARD'S MINSTREL JUBILEE WAS GREAT

EXCELLENT PERFORMANCE AT GRAND LAST NIGHT.

Witnessed By the Largest Audience of the Season—What the Troop Lacked in Numerical Strength Was Made Up in Quality—Monday Night's Attraction.

Shepard's Minstrels held the boards
at Myers Grand opera house last night and gave an excellent program which was witnessed by the largest audience of the season. If the company had received the patronage from the theatre going public that their efforts deserved, the "S. R. O." sign would have been displayed early in the evening. What the troupe lacked in numerical strength was fully made up for by the quality of the various acts, all of which were good.

The crimson first part was one of the most pleasing settings ever seen on the local stage and was in keeping with the fresh satin costumes of the performers.
The singing in the first part could hardly have been improved upon and every number was encored. The tenor solo by Harry Weaver was fine, as was the singing of the contra tenor, J.
Chester Donna. The latter has a wonderful voice for a man. The comic song
by Ned O'Brien, entitled "Hot Air," was good. The first part ended with a laughable sketch entitled "Molly Mc-Galligan's Band" and it brought down
the house.

The several acts of the olio were very clever and all deserve special mention.
Sig. B. Draper, the baton spinner and slack wire artist, proved himself an adept, as did Edwin T. Elliott with his buck and wing dancing. Weaver and Donna in their female impersonation act, gave a perfect take-off on the gentler sex. But the bright and shining star of the aggregation proved to be Lieut. Walter Allen, the wonderful ventriloquist, and his audience could not seem to get enough of his act. Truly this man is the premier of his profession, and he was by far the cleverest performers in his peculiar line ever seen here. His mechanical figures were marvels of ingenuity, and seemed endowed with life. This act was the most amusing of all. "Bond and O'Brien proved themselves a clever Irish knockabout team. Last but not least, came two jugglers and Indian club
swingers, and their turn was marvelous.
One of the men was a Japanese artist,
and his equal has seldom been seen here.

Take it all in all, it is safe to say that all of the minstrel shows that have visited Janesville for some time; as none have given more genuine pleasure than the performance of last evening.

SAY "MISSOURI GIRL" IS GOOD.

Belvidere Northwestern Speaks in Highest Terms of the Play.

Derthick's opera house was packed from orchestra circle to gallery last night by an audience that greeted Fred and Sadie Raymond and their competent company in that comedy which is sure to please—
"The Missouri Girl."

You laugh, scream and roar when Fred Raymond as Zeke makes his bow to the audience and you howl when he and Sadie as Daisy appear together.

If those two nights of the comedy stage did nothing but appear an audience would be convulsed. Their make-up is enough to cure a fit of the blues,
their acting sufficient to cause a sphinx
to laugh. It is seldom Belvidere people are permitted to enjoy such an evening of genuine fun as the "Missouri Girl," interpreted by Mr. Raymond's company affords. There is not one dull moment from the opening of the first act to the close of the fourth. The dancing of Fred and Sadie Raymond was such as to call for repeated encores. The vocal selections by Miss Desmond were pleasing and well rendered. The entire program is one that will attract and prove entertaining. "The Missouri Girl" is all right and to those who desire to shake off a fit of melancholy no better remedy could be suggested than to see Fred and Sadie Raymond in the characters of Zeke and Daisy. If you do not recover after witnessing this comedy
there is no cure for you. A hearty welcome awaits the company whenever it comes to Belvidere.

Sapling Lifts Tons.

The power of living seed over the inert weight of tons of rock is very forcibly illustrated by a little sapling which is growing in Erstberg, Germany. The tree is slight enough to be bent with the hands, but is raising in its irresistible growth a mass of rock weighing four tons.

Bad blood and indigestion are deadly enemies to good health. Burdick Blood Bitters destroys them.

A little life may be sacrificed to a sudden attack of croup if you don't have Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil on hand for the emergency.

Scratch, scratch, scratch; unable to attend to business during the day or sleep during the night. Itching piles, horrible plague. Doan's ointment cures. Never fails. At any drug store, 50 cents.

Don't delay a minute. Cholera infantum, dysentery, diarrhoea come suddenly. Only safe plan is to have Dr.
Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry always on hand.

Monkeys Escape.

Two monkeys have escaped from their cage in the garden of the Bull
and Bush hotel, Hampstead, England, and have been exploring, not only the heath near Golder's Hill, but have also enjoyed themselves in the well-kept grounds of houses adjoining the heath.
One of the animals, "Joey," got into trouble last August, when he and three companions went out on a similar expedition. His companions were killed and "Joey" was wounded and captured.
On being taken back to his cage his owner bought another monkey to keep him company, and it is this new companion "Joey" has now led astray.

The Bicycle Giant.

A rider using a wheel of 120-gear,
according to the Scientific American,
becomes, in effect, a striding giant.
Every revolution of the crank carries the wheel forward 31 1-3 feet. This requires two strokes, one with each foot, and is, consequently, equivalent to two steps taken by a walker. The average space covered by a man in two steps is five feet, so that, preserving about the same proportion of distance to height, a man who should undertake to keep even pace with a high-gear bicycle would need to be at least 36 feet tall!

The head of the fire department in an eastern city says that persons who perish in a burning building are invariably suffocated and that their death is painless. One breath of heated air and smoke causes unconsciousness, and the victim has no further painful sensation.

"The Laborer is Worthy of His Hire."

But a wage-earner can get more for his personal services if in strong and vigorous health. The blood is the life-giving and strength-making part of the system. If it is pure, all is well; if not, it should be purified with Hood's Sarsaparilla, which makes the weak strong.

Can Eat—"Was tired out, had no
appetite until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla.
It built me right up and I can eat heartily." Etta M. Hager, Athol, Mass.

only cathartic to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

All People Know

Whether they have had satisfaction from the Shoes that they have been wearing, and a greater number of the people of Janesville have purchased of us. You know that our Shoes always wear longer and keep their shape better than shoes purchased at many of the so-called "Cheap-John" places. We will leave it with you to decide, but it seems the most sensible to purchase where you know the Shoes are right rather than take chances on old odd jobs of other days. We handle nothing but new factory goods and guarantee every pair.

That means that we take the chances, and not you. We carry the largest assortment in Southern Wisconsin and can properly fit your feet no matter what the shape and give you the style of Shoe that you want. We were never better prepared to meet the wants of the people of Janesville than now. Our Fall styles are now here and we invite your inspection, whether you want to buy now or not. Always pleased to show you.

MORLEY AND ATKINSON

John Morley, the distinguished English writer and liberal leader, is not in favor of the Boers to deprive them of their independence and make them English vassals. He uses language as strong as that of Edward Atkinson about the war of conquest in the Philippines, but nobody in England has yet called him a traitor to the country.—Chicago Chronicle.

True, but suppose that John Morley, after the British troops had been attacked by the Boers, should rise up and express the hope that the soldiers fighting under the British flag, would be wiped out, and the English banner placed below that of the opposing army.

Then what would John Morley be? A patriot, or a traitor?

Morley argues against a war that impends, while Atkinson argues against warfare in which the lives of many Americans are at stake. Morley does not aid the armed enemies of his country, while Atkinson does.

As Thomas Jefferson put it, "the most successful war seldom pays for its losses," but "the sword once drawn, full justice must be done."

When an armed foe confronts the British army, John Morley will not cast his lot against his countrymen and the flag that protects him, and when The Chronicle compares him to Edward Atkinson, it does Morley an injustice as well as drawing a parallel with lines running at opposite angles.

Evening Wisconsin—Uncle Sam is very much like the good old farmer in Franklin's fable, who began by throwing turf at the bad boys in his apple tree, but was forced to end by chasing them out of the orchard with stones. Aguinaldo and his group of Philippine insurgents seem disinclined to regard the United States as in earnest, while the peace commission from this country, holding out its olive branch, remains at Manila. Consequently the peace commission is to be withdrawn, and Aguinaldo will have no one to deal with but the military. Moreover the strength of the military arm of the United States will be so considerably strengthened that as soon as the rainy season is over the insurgents will find themselves in an untenable position. They will be like the bad boys in the apple tree when the farmer began to throw stones.

Captain T. J. Rogers, of Beloit, has received the appointment of captain in the volunteer army, for which he was recommended by Senators Spooner and Quarles. If all the officers appointed are as good soldiers as Captain Rogers, short work will be made of the Filipinos.

Beloit Free Press—Mr. Bryan says this country must choose between a republic and an empire. Three years ago Mr. Bryan said this country must have 40-cent dollars or go to the "demonstration bow-wow." Mr. Bryan's musts are musty.

The Winnebago Indians have elected a Chicago Irishman as their chief. This goes to show that Chicago can produce anything you want. Irish injuns are scarce but Chicago is equal to the emergency.

The I-am-holier-than-thou politicians of Illinois are having hard work to find a man good enough for them to run for governor. Verily, they are the salt of the earth, and no common man will do.

The "influence of the corporation" is still noticed in Madison—one of them has bought the street car line, and will make many improvements and extensions.

Milwaukee Journal—We can see Oshkosh looking wise when it reads in the dispatches today that Dreyfus' counsel called for two kings.

Senator Beveridge, however, should note the fact that the impressive silence of the oyster does not keep him out of the soup.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TIDE.

Very Favorable Outlook Rented for September.

MARKETS IN GOOD CONDIION.

No Disquieting Change Has Occurred During the Week—Revenue in Our New Possessions Already Very Fair—Factors Smaller.

New York, Sept. 9.—Bradley's says:

"Strength of staple prices, with in fall demand, large railroad earnings, reports of heavy lake traffic and activity in leading industries are the features, none of them necessarily new, but still presenting themselves in the trade situation this week. Export in fall demand is perhaps most able at the leading western and northern markets, but advices from foreign markets furnish evidence that live interest is manifested at these ports. The price situation is one of able strength. Cereals are generally lower. R. G. Dun's weekly review made says:

"The sky is still cloudless and disquieting change has come during the week. The marketing of domestic products, both farm and manufacturing, continues surprisingly large for season. The new possessions, taken together, are returning in revenue ready more than it costs to claim govern them. The west and south behave as if it would be impudent for New York to offer money crop moving, and are still bidding commercial loans here. Failures few, strikes scarce and readily set, and the passage of Sept. 1 without serious means reasonable for months ahead.

"Failures for the first week of September have been $715,560, against $1,111,593 last year; manufacturing, $212,258, against $224,602 last year, and trading, $466,313, against $70 last year. Failures for the week have been 142 in the United States, against 142 last year, and 30 in Canada, against 18 last year."

General in the Philippines as saying it is time to

New York, Sept. 9.—In the number of the Congregation, the Rev. Peter MacQueen, has been in the Philippines for last year in service with the archbishop Major-Gen. Henry W. Lawton among other things, as saying: "The Philippines are a very fine set of islands. They are far better than the United States. The latter never fight unless they have the absolute advantage. The Philippines are what I would call a civil war. I believe that with a liberal government, such as the United States can establish, they will be a people. What we want is to this accursed war."

Miners' Pay Not Set

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 9.—After a long session the conference of operators and miners of the ago and Alton subdistrict adjourned without coming to any conclusion regarding a scale of mining in the district. The operators agreed to pay the miners would guarantee per cent increase in the output of coal. Finally the operators proposed to pay 40 cents if the miners were reduced 10 per cent. The miners agreed to submit this question to their local union report at a joint meeting to be held Thursday, Sept. 14.

Anderson Glass Trust

Anderson, Ind., Sept. 9.—The suit brought by the Window Workers' National association against Indiana manufacturers from the $37,000,000 trust and asking receivers for their plants, as proposed by the Indiana charter and anti-trust laws, was called Friday. The trustees secured a continuance to the 20th. One attorney said that he did not believe the case would come up, and that because of the trust had been abandoned.

YELLOW FEVER IS SPREADING.

Increase in the Number of Cases at Key West Is Reported.

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 9.—The number of yellow fever cases at Key West is above the 100 mark, as Dr. Porter's bulletin last evening stated that he had 106 cases. Three deaths are reported in the last twenty-four hours—viz., J. B. King, Charles H. Taylor and Frederick.

The fever is spreading and will doubtless seize all unacclimated persons. The disease seems to be getting a little more deadly as it increases. Every effort is being made to get the camps ready and to move those subject to attacks of the fever away from Key West. Reports from Miami say that Anderson, the sick man there, is getting along all right, and that he will recover. There are no other suspicious cases there.

Says Americans Met Defeat.

Madrid, Sept. 9.—News received from the Philippines gives another version of Col. Bayliss' expedition into the hills of the island of Cebu to silence the natives who had annoyed the American command. It is declared that the colonel and his eight companies sustained a severe defeat.

The same dispatch says that the native police in the American service in the island of Negros have gone over to the enemy with arms in hand.

To Sustain Carter Verdict.

New York, Sept. 9.—A special to the Journal from Washington says it is learned on good authority that Attorney-General Griggs has decided to recommend to the president that the verdict of the Carter court-martial be sustained.

There is, nevertheless, substantial basis for the statement that the verdict may be modified by the president to the extent of striking out the finding that a conspiracy was proved.

Gomez Sounds a Warning.

Havana, Sept. 9.—Gen. Maximo Gomez, in an interview, said: "I am not at all concerned when I hear the Cubans discussing the intentions of the United States government. The Americans are a race that thinks and that will not repay good with evil. Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippine islands will be free and independent, or peace with the United States will be compromised. The Cubans must learn to wait and to work."

Funeral of Ex-Gov. Merrill.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 9.—The funeral of ex-Gov. Samuel Merrill Friday was attended by state officials and public men. In the state capitol building the remains lay in state for four hours, guarded by troops of the national guard. Ex-Govs. Jackson and Gear and Gov. Shaw were among the pall-bearers.

To Send Troops to Otis.

Washington, Sept. 9.—At the cabinet meeting Friday Secretary Root gave a detailed report of the plans for sending a large force to the Philippines, as soon as the rainy season should end, to enable Gen. Otis to make an aggressive campaign and to crush the rebellion.

BASEBALL REPORT.

Games Played Yesterday in the Two Leading Leagues.

Chicago mounted yesterday to the top of the second division. The victory over Cleveland was easy. The Pirates helped along by dropping one game to Louisville, the second being interrupted by rain in the second inning. Brooklyn nailed the pennant a little firmer to the pole by defeating Boston. The waning champions are now in danger of not finishing even in second place. Philadelphia entrenched itself in the position by winning from Washington. Baltimore fell behind by failing to defeat New York. St. Louis revenged itself on Cincinnati, and the two leading western teams are now close locked for the fifth place. The scores:

At Chicago—
Chicago	0 0 0 1 0 0 2 2 *—5
Cleveland	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0—1
At Brooklyn—
Brooklyn	2 1 1 0 0 0 1 *—5
Boston	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0
At Washington—
Philadelphia	0 0 3 1 0 0 0 *—4
Washington	0 0 0 1 0 0 0 1 0—2
At St. Louis—

Cincinnati	0 0 2 0 0 1 0 0 0—3
At New York—

GAMES IN THE WESTERN LEAGUE.

Miners' Pennant Chances Glimmer with Defeat at Indianapolis.

By defeating Minneapolis in the final game of the series of three Indianapolis took a grip on the Western league pennant which it will be difficult to overcome in the three games remaining to be played. The game was not even close, the Indians holding it safe all the way. It is worthy of note that Minneapolis at this time last season was in a tail-end position. The games:

At Indianapolis—Indianapolis, 9; Minneapolis, 0.
At Grand Rapids—Grand Rapids, 9; Kansas City, 4.
At Buffalo—Buffalo, 5; Milwaukee, 4.
At Detroit—Detroit, 5; St. Paul, 2.

Eugenie's Historic Pen.

When ex-Empress Eugenie writes about her lamented husband she invariably uses the diamond pen with which the treaty of Paris was signed. Each of the fourteen plenipotentiaries wanted to keep the pen which signed the treaty as a memento of the occasion. They, however, yielded to the request of the Empress Eugenie, who begged that only one pen be used, which should be retained by her as a souvenir. Only one pen was accordingly employed, and it was a quill plucked from the wing of a golden eagle, and richly mounted with gold and diamonds.

JUDGE FOR YOURSELF.

Which Is Better, Try An Experiment Or Profit by a Janesville Citizen's Advice?

Something new is an experiment. Must be proven to be as represented. Be successful at home or you doubt it.

The statement of a manufacturer is not convincing proof of merit. But the endorsement of a friend is. Now, supposing you had a bad back. A lame neck or aching one. Would you experiment on it? You will hear of many so-called cures. But they come from far away places.

It is different when the endorsement comes from home.

Easy to prove that it is so. Home endorsement is the proof that backs every box of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Read this case:

Mr. Samuel Griffin, of 203 Locust St. journeyman car enter, says: "I had a severe attack of a gripe some time ago, and as the result of this sickness a weakness of the kidneys set in. The secretions from those organs were greatly disordered, and annoying me much at night and I seemed to have limited control of them. After finishing the treatment my kidneys were so strengthened that I could sleep all night without being disturbed. I am better now than I have been for years, and give all credit to Doan's Kidney Pills for bringing about this result."
